WE NOMINATE

Herbert Feis, economist, historian and adviser in high government circles, whose analytical writings and distinguished public service over a span of three decades were limelighted this week as Princeton University awarded him one of the highest honors within its command—the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters. The burst of applause which followed the presentation of the degree to the 68-year-old Princetonian was not only tribute to a brilliant record but also a measure of the impact of the printed word in a community whose primary industries are education and research.

New York-born and a member of the Institute for Advanced Study at various times since 1948, Feis this spring capped his literary achievements by carrying off the Pulitzer Prize in History for his "Between War and Peace: the Potsdam Conference", the fourth in his five-volume diplomatic history of the Alliance against the Axis in World War II. Of comparable significance in the related spheres of scholarship and historical writing was the publication, weeks after he had won the Pulitzer Prize, of his fifth major work in ten years, "Japan Subdued: The Atomic Bomb and the end of the War in the Pacific."

The latter, the first volume to recap the complicated actions of all of the nations involved in the story of Nippon's fall, promptly won literary acclaim in all sections of the United States, including the normally "isolationistic Middle West". From one critic came this judgment: "This is not merely a book concerned with one of the most vital human and historical questions of our time. It is a work which, by uniting detachment and scholarship to the central moral and political problems of our age, can only promote healthy reflection among mature men."

Feis' Tuesday morning citation, appropriately sandwiched between awards to a distinguished Orientalist and one of the foremost journalists of this century, accentuated his never-ending search for truth, stating in part that "he has sagaciously and tenaciously followed the tell-tale paper-trail from cabinet to cabinet, hounding the elusive hare of historical truth while not blinking at the bitter facts." Unlike many of his fellow scholars, Feis, whose earliest publications were concerned with international economic affairs and American foreign policy, doesn't succumb to the temptation of editorializing, of interpreting facts in the light of pre-conceived theories. He is essentially a top-notch reporter in the groves of academe.

A member of the Class of 1916 at Harvard, where he also received his doctoral degree, Feis has been a member of the faculties at Harvard and the Universities of Kansas and Cincinnati. He accepted his first government post in 1931 in becoming economic adviser to the Department of State, an affiliation that was to continue through 1944. A special consultant to three of the nation's Secretaries of War, starting with Secretary Stimson, he was the American delegation's chief technical adviser for the World Economic and Monetary Conference held in London in 1933 and subsequently held forth as a special adviser to the Conference of American Republics, participating in the three major Latin-American conclaves of the 1930's.

For hoping that his penetrating studies of the recent past may help "reduce the terrors of an ominous but unrevealed future"; for his genuine modesty in accepting the distinctions others are eager to confer; for his rare capacities as a historian and as a human being: he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

VOTE AFFIRMED

On Blight. The 4-3 Borough Planning Board vote designating the Hufsch-Green-With-espoon-John area as "blighted" is a valid vote, according to a decision rendered Monday by William Miller, counsel for the Planning Board, and outlined in a letter to Martin Beck, Board chairman.

Mr. Miller also ruled that Albert Austen, who abstained from voting, may ask for the opportunity to vote if he wishes. Mr. Austen said, following receipt of a copy of Mr. Miller's letter to Mr. Beck, that he would not ask for the opportunity to cast his vote. However, he said that if the Planning Board decided to vote again on the issue, he would vote rather than abstain.

Unless the Planning Board schedules an extra meeting, it will not meet again until July
6. It will submit to Borough Council its recommendation that the area in question be declared blighted. Council then has 30 days to accept this report, modify it or reject it.

The 4-3 vote was taken last week. Mr. Miller's opinion on the vote was required because of an apparent ambiguity in the Board's by-laws. "They state that 'a majority of the membership of the Board (five members) shall constitute a quorum and the number of votes necessary to transact business shall be a majority of the entire membership of the Board.'"

It is not anticipated that any legal action will be started at this time, but if Council accepts the Board's report or modifies it in ways which are not acceptable to opponents of the report, it is possible that there will be litigation.

FINAL HEARING HELD

On Sacred Heart. In the fourth and final hearing on the request of the Religious of the Sacred Heart to establish a girls' school on The Great Road, Township Zoning Board heard on Tuesday night the final arguments presented by attorneys Abbridge C. Smith, III and Frank Curran for the school, and the case against the school presented by Seymour Montgomery and David Lennox, representing property owners near the proposed site.

After the four and one-half-hour hearing, Leonard Johnson, Zoning Board chairman, obtained from all four attorneys permission to extend the decision deadline specified in the zoning ordinance. It was agreed that the Board will decide on the case no later than 60 days after receipt of the entire transcript. This means that there will probably be no decision before late August.

In summing up its presentation, Sacred Heart made these points:

A school is a "permissible use" in an R-1 residential zone, according to the ordinance.

Sacred Heart will accept any reasonable conditions imposed by the Board.

School traffic will neither impede nor interfere with Great Road traffic; the entrance will be on the new Ascot Drive.

The campus would add to the desirability of the area as a residential section, as The

Hun and Columbus Bychoir Schools have enhanced their areas.

"Education is Princeton's
"business", and Sacred Heart has the highest standards of education.

The Borough has not suffered financially from the presence of large tax-exempt properties, and the Township would not necessarily, either.
A sewer plan for the Great Road was developed long before Sacred Heart's application.

Summing up his client's case, Mr. Montgomery said:
"The quality of the school is irrelevant; the character of the use is more important than the character of the user."
Of the Township's seven institutions, five are in the Ed-zone, already (Our Lady of Princeton, Boychoir, Hun, Ten-nere and, in the future, Princeton Day Schools). "When are

There is already an educational zone in the Township and the school should be built there, rather than in a residential zone.

The application itself is "vague" and does not indicate the size and exact location of the buildings on the site.

The Township's sewer problem is acute and should be made more so.

Granting a permit will force the hand of Township Committee on the building of sewer and roads.

Question is based on these points, and not on the fact that the school is Catholic, Mr. Leno made the last two points.

In reply, Mr. Curran said that The Great Road sewer had been a top priority item on Township Committee's sewer agenda and that Acrot Road was already on Planning Board maps. Answering the charge of vagueness, Mr. Curran said that Sacred Heart was applying for a special permit, not a building permit or variance.

The Case Against: Before the summations, Mr. Montgomery presented witnesses who testified as to the residential character of The Great Road neighborhood. Wilson Bachman, real estate agent from Princeton, who is known as "the finest land in Mercer County," and stated that most of the properties were over 40 acres in extent and that many were over 250 acres and were worth from $100,000 to $225,000.

David Popowicz, city planner with the University of Pennsylvania, said that, in his opinion, a school was an "intrusion" into the residential area and would generate traffic, affect utilities and create the nuisance of a "fair-sized factory."

He said that Sacred Heart would make an "institutional row" out of The Great Road and might be detrimental to the character of the area.

Frank L. Quinby, assistant Township engineer, was also a witness. He identified a zoning map and a large scale map and then outlined the R-1 zone on the larger map. Despite objections from Mr. Smith, who questioned the precise accuracy of property lines drawn over the map, the map was submitted as evidence, and three parts of the map were also placed in evidence in support of Mr. Smith's request for accuracy.

Sacred Heart presented William Wilson, draftsman with Edward D. Van Noy, who read the results of a Great Road traffic count he had made on June 7, 8 and 9 between 8-9 a.m. and 4-5 p.m. and 136 between 5 and 6 p.m.

His average car count was 126 between 8 and 9 a.m., 209 between 4 and 5 p.m. and 136 between 5 and 6 p.m.

NEW PRINCIPAL: John A. Wolkoff has been appointed principal of Valley Road school to succeed John A. McKenna, who has been named Acting Superintendent of Township Schools. Story this page.

The Case For: Mrs. Barklie Henry of Princeton Day Schools read a letter from Harold P. Davis, chairman of the board of the schools, stating that "Princeton Day Schools was 'not opposed' to the Sacred Heart request and 'welcomed the enlargement of any educational opportunities in Princeton.' Herman Reifeldt, 390 Cherry Hill Road, also recorded his approval and said he hoped that Acrot Road would be developed as soon as possible. Mr. Reifeldt owns land adjacent by one lot from the proposed site and plans to develop his property.

Following the presentation of the testimony, several members of the audience spoke. Dr. C. H. Place, 133 Winant, asked whether a sewer would go up The Great Road regardless of the outcome of Sacred Heart's request, and Gordon Griffin, Township attorney told him the Zoning Board had no power to decide on the sewer question because it would be up to the Township Committee.

He told Dr. Place that the same policy applied in regard to the construction of Acrot Road, and in response to another question from Dr. Place, said that the Township had not made its own Great Road traffic survey because the Zoning Board was legally restricted to considering only the information placed before it.

Others who spoke in favor of the school were Mrs. Joseph Bolster, 121 Fairside an alumna of a Sacred Heart School; Joseph Dougherty, 25 Southview Way and James J. McNamara.

Mrs. Francis M. Austin, Jr., North Road, said she regarded the present traffic situation on The Great Road between 7-30 and 8 a.m. as "terrible" and felt that, with its schools on the road, it would be worse.

Mrs. Rene Leon, Drakes Corner Road, read a statement opposing the proposed new school and expressing her belief that private day schools created a "rift" in the community.

"We are extremely fortunate in having Dr. McKenna assume the duties of Acting Superintendent in this transitional period," said Mrs. Jessa Epstein, in announcing the appointment. "He has worked closely with Dr. Purcell for the past five years and is thoroughly familiar with, and has made major contributions to, the policies and progress that have been effected in recent years."

Mrs. Epstein said that, because Dr. Purcell's resignation came so close to the end of the school year, the Board had not had time to make the comprehensive survey of candidates which it believes to be its responsibility. She said that the Board would interview applicants during the next few months and would reach a decision as soon as possible. She also emphasized that Dr. McKenna "is among the strong candidates for the post."

Dr. McKenna has been with the Township school system since 1958, when he became principal of Valley Road.

Mr. Wolkoff was graduated from Wilkes College in 1952 and received his Master of Education degree from Rutgers in 1957. He is enrolled in the doctorate program at Rutgers.

Person To Person

We heard about a gaffer who thought so much of his old beat in an aluminum putter-head that he was willing to pay $5,000 for an identical replacement of it.

It seems that the only way he could get one was to order a thousand of them at $5.00 apiece, because die would have to be made to duplicate the old putter-head, and so it would cost almost as much for one as a thousand.

Probably many of us have known of situations where an old, worn item was so prized, that an identical replacement would be worth many times the original cost. But this cannot be logically true of an automobile, even though some old cars do have excellent value on the antique market.

Every year there are important improvements in cars, and the older a car becomes, the more costly it is to maintain and operate, so it is in your own interest to own the latest possible model. We shall always consider your best interests in fitting the car to your needs and circumstances, for we know it is your satisfaction that builds our business.

354 TO GRADUATE
At P. H. S. Commencement. Barring inclement weather, 354 seniors will graduate from Princeton High School this Thursday in commencement exercises scheduled for 7 p.m. in Harris Field behind the High School. If it rains again this year, the graduation will be postponed to Friday at 7 p.m.

Featured at the commencement will be speeches by three graduating seniors. Linda Wyckoff will speak on "A Misconception of Success: Materialism," written by Pamela Atkins; Beverly Ehrenburg, on "An Immediate Horizon: Self-Fulfillment," written by Lella Bates; and Robert Grobel, on "The Ultimate Horizon: Spiritual Fulfillment," written by himself.

Graham Rubner, president of the Borough Board of Education will give the commencement address, while Dean Jeremiah S. Finch, vice-president of the board will award the scholarships. William H. Rhodes, High School principal, and Dr. Chester R. Stoup, superintendent of schools, will present the diplomas.

The Rev. Dr. William F. MacCormack, president of Westminster Choir College, will pronounce the Invocation and Benediction, and Peter Nully, president of the senior class, will give an address of welcome. The Senior Chorus will sing the Lord's Prayer and the Latin Benediction.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS KEY
At Borough Council Session. Borough Council is inching toward solution of the municipality's more pressing traffic problems. At a lengthy meeting Tuesday night, it acted both to increase off-street parking and to speed the acquisition of a parcel of land for the Wiggins Street-Avalon Place link.

Passed on first reading was an ordinance to obtain (by purchase, gift, long-term lease or condemnation) land for 142 cars behind Nassau Street between Moore Street and Vandeventer Avenue. This $170,000 project, which has been under active consideration for a year, will be the subject of a public hearing on July 11.

In its other action concerning traffic, Council cleared up a few loose ends left over from the ordinance passed last week to acquire by condemnation the plot on the corner of Jackson and Witherspoon Streets. The plot will be used in part for the long-proposed relocation of Jackson Street to link Wiggins Street and Avalon Place.

First, the Council passed on first reading and set, 8 p.m. July 3 as the time for a public hearing on an ordinance to

PLANNERS MEET

In Township. A representative of the firm of Jack Kendrick, Township planning consultants, met on Monday night with Township Planning Board members to discuss the projected light-industry ordinance.

Members expressed the hope that at the next meeting of the Board in July, they would be able to act on the Princeton Day School's case. The Zoning Board has approved the School's request for permission to build a campus on The Great Road subject to Planning Board approval, but there have been delays because the firm of Clarke and Kapuano has not yet received from the township the profile of The Great Road which was requested.

Karl Pettit's preliminary plans for four three-acre lots on Ridgewood Road were deferred for additional information. Lawrence S. Greene's preliminary plans for four more Brookstone lots were returned for study. The plans were changed slightly from the original Brookstone plans and in the revised plans Brookstone Drive does not meet the Township's proposed Great Road-Province Lane link in a satisfactory manner.

RESIDENTS - SEE COUNCIL

In Hopewell. Eight residents of Hopewell Borough have filed a complaint in Superior Court against the Mayor and Council in an attempt to throw out the new paving-curb ordinance passed April 24 and reinstate the policies of the old ordinance on paving and curbing in existence since 1922.

The basis for this suit is the decision of Council to provide $16,000 for a 2-10ths mile extension of Lafayette Street. In the past, abutting property owners have been required to meet the costs of all paving and curbing projects, but the new ordinance provides that nance. (Normally, all council members are on Council, but a Council vacancy had not yet been filled by reappointment when the ordinance was passed.) The dissenter was Joseph B. Hill, II, who cast his negative vote because of the conflict of interest caused by the fact that he owns property abutting the street.

Although the complaint has been filed against Mayor and Council, only two Council members are named specifically. They are Carl Wilson, production manager for Rockwell, and Joseph N. Cavaro, who owns abutting property.

Plaintiffs Listed. The plaintiffs are Robert L. Thibault, Mrs. Richard L. Goode, William C. Culen, Thurmond L. Farr, Ralph Ferrante, Walter J. Charter, Jack D'Ale and Clifford H. Leining. The Trenton law firm of Scott, Fox and Walsh is representing the group.

"We suspect the whole council of conflicts of interest," says Mr. Farr. "But we are naming only two specifically."

Mr. Farr has stated that he believes a conflict of interest may exist in the case of Councilmen Ralph M. Lanning, who owns Hillside Dairy across the Rockwell cafeteria, and J. Neil Arrington, who has stated that he works on a consultant basis for "an abutting property owner" whom Mr. Farr believes to be Rockwell.

It has been charged that the residents' suit has a political bias because Hopewell Borough Council is Republican, and Mr. Ferrante is running for Mayor and Mr. Goode for Council, both on the Democratic ticket.

Council must appear in court 20 days from the date of the filing of the suit or lose by default. David L. Smith is the Borough attorney.

FIVE CARS ESTERD

Over The Weekend. Five Princeton motorists reported to police that their cars had been broken into over the weekend. Four of the incidents occurred Friday evening.

Horatio Turner of 6 Mansgrove Lane reported three thefts valued at $32 taken from his car parked on Mercer Street near Alexander. Richard W. Meyer of 22 Carnegie Drive reported a jacket valued at $10 stolen from his car parked on Nassau Street near the public library. Kent Millikin of 513 Laughlin Hall reported $93 worth of men's evening apparel taken from his car in the parking yard opposite the University Store. And Arnold P. Lampert of 474 Rosedale Road listed material valued at $30 taken from his car parked on University Place near the railroad station.

Joseph Baetley of 181 Harrison Street reported a spare tire taken Thursday from the trunk of his car in a municipal parking yard.

In other cases, George A. Martin, 58, of 200 Library Place, was fined $15 for crossing a solid white line, and David L. Hayes, 41, of 80 Lehigh Avenue, $20, for speeding. John M. Churchill, 17, of 272 Snowden Lane and Marvin C. McGuinn, Jr., 18, of 23 Shadybrook Lane, paid $12 fines for red light violations.

Also: Richard S. Olson, 18, of Sunset Hill, $15, late inspection; Robert G. Smyth, 15, of 321 Nassau Street, $10, illegal use of horn; Preston Evers, 21, of 7 Lytle Street, $10, no registration in possession; Joseph Giordano, 37, Stillman, $20, careless driving; and Mrs. Barbara Faurst, 36, of 7 Rumson Road, Franklin Park, $25, illegal display of plates.

In criminal court, Andre G. Utanages, 31, of 207 John Street was fined $35 on a charge of being a disorderly person. He pleaded not guilty to using offensive remarks.

At a special session held Friday evening Magistrate Tams fined Miss Mammy Lee Sald, 19, of Canal Road, Georgetown, $25 for drunken driving. Unable to pay the fine, the defendant was sentenced to spend 21 days in Mercer County Jail.

Miss Sald had hit a parked car on John Street the evening before belonging to Willie Rhodes of 7 Marguerite Court, damaging the interior left front fender. She continued on and struck the curb of Fullish Street about three blocks from the accident scene.

The owner of the car, William J. Reagan of 18 N. Clinton Avenue, Trenton, was issued a summons for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

News Of The THEATRES

THE PLAYHOUSE
The Young Savages (June 11-17) is a cheaply sensational drama about juvenile delinquency, overlaid with third-rate psychology and pat indictments of the crimes of society against its youth. Adapted from Evan Hunter's novel, "A Matter of Conviction," the film stars Burt Lancaster, Dean Merrill and Shelley Winters.

Lancaster is an assistant district attorney determined to track down the culprits in a Harlem gang killing. In the process, he meets a lot of young heads is beaten by a few of them, and argues with his wife over the merits of capital punishment.

The film is well-told, and it generates a certain amount of repulsive excitement and quasipathos. But the problem with which it deals is too immediate and vital to be passed off with this kind of "Mr. District Attorney" treatment, no matter how capably performed.

The Last Time I Saw Arnie (June 18-20) is an improbable combination of the talents of Robert Mitchum and a Sgt. Bilko-type plot. Mitchum, who always looks half-asleep any way, appears to have finally found the perfect role as a lax convict who "raises" his buddies in the Air Force. It could have been a fine comedy. The only problem is Hollywood, which has misused it. The film is out of all proportion.

Even so, it is almost worth while seeing for some of the lesser lights which cluster around Mitchum—such as Louis Nye, Robert Strauss, Harvey Lowback, Del Monte, Joe Flynn, James Lyndon and Don Kinette. In addition, there are Jack Webb, as an ex-Hollywood writer named Bill Powers (curiously, the same name as the writer of the screenplay), and Martha Hyer and Franca Nuyon, who provide the romantic interest.

The Last Sunset (May 21-27) has a plot that is, for a western, awesomely complicated. Disdaining a simple, straightforward conflict between the picture's two strong men, Rock Hudson and Kirk Douglas, screenwriter Dalton Trumbo has produced a story which has all the fixings and innards of a Dumas novel. Not only are there all the usual ingredients for a western (Indians, marshals, cattle drive, Indians) but also some elements which are more often associated with the soap opera: three men, older woman and daughter, many romantic complications.

Required to wind their ways through this maze of a plot, the principals fail to show any particular talent. Besides Hudson and Douglas, there are Joseph Cotton, as the drunken anchor in Nevada, Dorothy Malone, his wife, and Carol Lynley, her daughter. Moviegoers who like westerns for their scenery rather than the plot will be happy to know that this 112-minute production is in Eastman color.

THE GARDEN

The Ostrich Has Two Eggs (June 15-17)—no kin to "The Sheep Has Five Legs"—is a French comedy dealing with rollicking themes like homosexuality. The stars are Pierre Fresnay, Simone Renant, Yoli Tani and Andre Roussin.

Fresnay is a blistering middle class father who is unable to communicate with, or see the truth about, his two sons. The boys are Roger, who is being kept by a Japanese eunuch, and Lolo, a homosexual. When Fresnay finally is forced to face reality—after Lolo has become a famous dress-designer and the countess has offered to finance his career—he is too bemused by the yawning family finances to care. Despite the unpromising title, the quality of the acting is high and the film is moderately amusing.

I Aim at the Stars (June 19-21) is the story of rocketeer Werner von Braun and his work for different countries in the two great-power conflicts of the mid-twentieth century. It details von Braun's work first for the Germans and later for the United States, stressing always that he has been a dedicated scientist rather than a political figure.

Curt Jurgens slightly overplays the role of von Braun himself, while Gia Scala is his secretary in wartime Germany and Herbert Lom, an important young associate of von Braun, James Daly does an unconvincing job as the American army officer who first develops a dislike for von Braun in Germany and then comes into contact with the German scientist after the war.

Perhaps the most dramatic sequence is that of the launching of the first United States satellite from White Sands, New Mexico. There is something about a large movie screen which makes the whole —Continued on Page 10

IT'S NEW To Us

NEW PHARMACY OPENS
On Witherspoon Street, Morris Forer of Trenton has opened a new pharmacy at 160 Witherspoon, between Quarry and Maclean Streets, displaying a wide range of pharmaceuticals and sundries in 2600 square feet of floor space. (This includes stock room).

Aside from the splendid new interior, which includes such special attractions as a school of curving vanity with mirror to use when trying cosmetics and such, Mr. Forer is proudest of his collection of trolley cards. These include not only Norcross, but the 4c line whose carriages and effusive whiteface are the products of Mr. Forer's artist cousin. There are lone, narrow studio cards (25 cents) with less emphasis on the sick side of humor than most cards in the collection.

Then, there is a full counter of hair pieces in many different styles. Buy a penny tail for $2.65, a chignon, braids, a page-boy curve or a full cap wig for $29.50. The semi-private vanity and mirror will give you the privacy you need to try the style that suits you best. Also in the hair line, Mr. Forer carries preparations by Posner Products, and well-known brands like Lush, Lush, Silky Strate, Long Aid and so on, plus a full line of toiletries for men and women.

The prescription department, heart of any pharmacy, of course, is a deep, wide area partitioned off at the rear of the store and stocked with the latest devices for the scientific preparation of prescriptions. A torsion scale in the nearest dial model, which weigh a quantity scribbled on a piece of paper, accurate to 1-1500 of a pound, 1-100 of a gram. On the theory that people are too sophisticated these days to be impressed by big glass jars of colored water, Mr. Forer has enclosed his boxes and bottles behind sliding doors so that the prescription side of things present a smooth facade and not a jumbled Hubbard's cupboard.

There are fully equipped counters for two pharmacists and enough extra space so that "we can hold 100 gallons of plasma here if there's a disaster emergency," says Mr. Forer.

Anything left out? Golden Books, Hardy Boys and Nancy Drew for the kiddies, paperbacks for the grown-ups, Kodak cameras separately or in kits and film to match, toys for baby's bath, candy by Flora Mir (exclusive in Princeton) and Schreyer's, cigars for new fathers to buy.

Mr. Forer was a pharmacist with Marsh's from 1931 to 1942 and the owner of a Trenton drug store for 16 years after that. A past executive secretary of B'nai B'rith Lodge, Trenton, he is a member of the Society of Mercer County Pharmacists and a member of the executive committee of the Mercer County Health Committee.

His new pharmacy will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

DISCOUNT!

At Penn Jersey. Those of you who know Penn Jersey Auto Supply as a reputable discount house will be glad to learn that the discount price policies also maintain in the new store in the Princeton Shopping Center. The opportunities for spending discount money are many and varied in this spacious shop: bicycles and automobile tires; lawn mowers and thermos bottles; fishing tackle and shock absorbers—what'll it be?

At the moment, the prices are particularly good at the moment. Columbia, Ross, Corliss and the English-made Armstrong are the brands at Penn Jersey. (You'll like the push-button horn on the Columbia model and the flip tail-fin on the Ross.)

A little trainer bike for people who are still unsteady on two wheels, is actually a convertible bike with bar that comes off and changes the bike from a boy's model to a girl's. Fine for a family where outgrown toys can be passed from generation to generation.

The modern drug store, like its counterpart, the old-fashioned country store, is designed to answer almost every day-to-day need of the average family.
The new Forer Pharmacy, 160 Witherspoon, continues this tradition by offering not only over-the-counter and razor blades, but also money orders and a kind of bill-paying service.
You may buy National Express money orders now at the store in any amount, and in a short time—as soon as the necessary arrangements have been completed, — you may also stop at the pharmacy to pay your Public Service gas and electricity bills.
Forer is not content-stay in any other sense, however; fluorescent ceiling lighting (200 ft. candles) diffused by a one-inch plastic grid ceiling, terrazzo vinyl floors and a modern glass storefront are far removed from cracker barrel and pot-bellied stove.

The young are also served by a vast assortment of junior fishing tackle, starting at $1.49 and going up to $4.95 for a pole. Reels, lines, rods and hooks are all priced for small allowances, so it doesn't really matter if something gets lost or floats away downstream.
Travellers will want to examine the terryleam car seat covers, backed with foam for a firmer fit and more dust protection. Regularly priced at $8.95, but $5.55 at Penn Jersey.

Automobile parts (brake shoes, water or fuel pumps, ignition coils) for any kind of car, and lots of chrome hot-rod equipment for cars in desperate need of rocker panels, fender skirts, dummy spot lights and so on.

Inside the car, you'll want the 72-hour ice chest, built for — Continued on Page 15

CHANGES NOTED: Almost everything changes but after 25 years, William Trevor (left) and George Friend, Class of '16, feel that the changes in Princeton and the University have been for the better. With minor exceptions, other classmates would agree.

Question of the Week

Question: In your opinion, have the changes in the town and the University in the last 25 years been for better or worse?

Where asked: Holder Court, Class of 1936 Headquarters.

Dr. William Trevor, New York City, surgeon: Definitely much better. Certainly from an architectural point of view there has been a marked improvement. The addition of Palmer Square and the improvements in town buildings have made it a much more attractive place than it was 25 years ago. As for the architecture on campus, I'm somewhat doubtful about that. That pasted quadrangle seems to me they could make a little better blending with the surrounding architecture than they have done. Frankly, I don't think that would be attractive anywhere.

George Friend, Morristown, Pa., engineer: For the better. I think the University has become progressively better and reflects this improvement. The town, too, has become better. A new shopping center and Palmer Square reflect the change. The only detriment that I can see has been the Robert Alford, Alexandria, Va., government service: I think the fact that the town has grown so much has been to the detriment of the University. Before, the University wasn't overwhelmed by the town. On the other hand, the town is much prettier now. The new Palmer Square is very attractive. It is too bad, though, that the new engineering buildings can't conform to the scale of the other buildings.

John Hyle, Pittsburgh, banker: I think the changes in the town itself have certainly been for the better. I can remember the Nass. It was an old building and quite messy. Palmer Square is a definite improvement. The only detracting statement I have to make is on the inside conditions of the dormitories. I was appalled. It was an awful mess. The undergraduates sure don't know how to keep house.

John Lanchau, Winnetka, Ill., director of procedures for Island Steel: I think it's about even. I see no changes for better or worse in the town and University.

Frank White, Colonia, N.J., chemical engineer: My opinion is that it's exactly the same. I think they have the same hamburgers in Commons hall but 25 years ago. But the town, I think, is more attractive. Physically, the new Nass is prettier and the new YNCA is a lovely place.

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is WA 4-2300. Best proof is the number of ads running in this issue. Telephone your ad or bring it to Mercer Street by Tuesday afternoon before 5.

Scott Jones, Hinsdale, Ill., public relations counsel: I would say no town or community can stand still and it's got to grow. I think the way Princeton has been growing has been tasteful and in the best interests of the long-range health of the community. We'd all like to keep our communities the way we knew them, but that's impossible.

David Greene, Buffalo, physician: I think they're for the better. The undergraduates get younger every year, that's one of the changes. They have a better Director of Admissions now than they did, even though he wouldn't let us in if we were to apply now.

Howard Willey, Memphis, Tenn., cotton merchant: I'd say for the better. I think any community like Princeton is going to grow in size and as long as it can be done in good taste, without making it too commercial, then I think you've preserved the university atmosphere of the town. I think the planning of Princeton has been very well done because it doesn't make you feel the town is that much larger when it actually is.

Clifford Nangle, Langhorne, Pa., department store owner: Worse, definitely; there is no comparison. This used to be a wonderful place. The only thing I have of course, off hand, is Yale and Harvard.

Richard Williams, Chicago, real estate: I think they've been for the better. The renovation of Palmer Square and the upgrading of the stores have all been for the better. I think they've kept the campus very well. I don't like the architecture of the new buildings, however. I don't like all the carhousers and dorms. I think they have departed a little too much. All in all I think they've done a good job of preserving the atmosphere and feeling of living in a small town considering how other parts of the country have changed so tremendously in the past 25 years. I think Princeton is much nicer than New Haven, for instance.

launching process far more realistic than possible on television.

A Raisin In The Sun (June 22-24) is a good, well-acted and well-produced drama. Possibly the reason it does not evidence the shortcomings of many current Hollywood productions is that both the story and almost everyone associated with the movie have been recruited from other media. The story itself comes from a play by the same name which won the Drama Critics Circle Award in New York, of course. Almost the entire cast was carried over from the stage play. One of the producers and the director were brought in from television, while the other producer was recruited from the legitimate theatre.

Sidney Poitier is back in his brilliant role as the young man caught in the middle of both family and racial tensions. Claudia McNeil portrays his mother, Ruby Dee, his wife, and Diana Sands, his sister. These and the other members of the all-Negro cast effectively tell the dramatic story of a poor Negro family in Chicago and its problems with money and segregation. Recommended.

DRIVER LEAVES SCENE

After Hitting House, Township police issued summonses for reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident to John B. Banks, 28, of 100 Leigh Avenue, following an accident on a Witherspoon Street which occurred at 2:45 Saturday morning.

After reaching the intersection of Birch Avenue and Witherspoon Street, police said Mr. Banks continued on for another 105 feet, went up a private driveway and punched a five-foot square hole in the west side of a house at 271 Witherspoon. The house is the property of a private citizen.

TO SING BACH
Four Cantatas. Because Princeton tenor was prevented by pneumonia from appearing as soloist in a recent American Bach Society concert, the Society, its conductor, Clifford Richier, harpsichordist Robert Conant and baritone Gordon Myers will come to Princeton this Saturday to present a program of Bach cantatas. The concert will be given at 8:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel, Van Dyke Road, off Snowden, and is open to the public without charge.

The tenor is Robert Holland 48 Cuyler Road, now with an insurance agency in Trenton, but for many years a well-known professional singer who performed with the Robert Shaw Choral, the NBC Opera and in various television programs.
Now a dedicated amateur,
Mr. Holland was scheduled to appear with the American Bach Society in Rockland County in a concert, when he was stricken with pneumonia.
The concert went on without him, but the conductor felt that the tenor was so essential to the success of the program, that he decided to repeat the entire concert in Princeton.

The Society will sing Cantatas Nos. 4, 26, 38 and 67. This will be the first concert in the new Chapel, which is said by musicians to have exceptionally fine acoustics. The audience will sit "in the round" — on both sides of the musicians as well as in front of them.
Sponsors of the concert hope that it may be the forerunner of annual Bach festivals in the Princeton community.

Many of our depositors, of course, are businesses; and we are especially proud of the fact that we have been a part of their growth. We even have some customers who don't know what a bank account is—babies and small children in whose names accounts were opened as naturally as they learned to walk.

It's a big family of customers altogether.

coolness with rounded corners, rolled seams, drain, tray and everything but the beer. It's $12.50. A lighter, more modest chest is $6.98 (about the same size) and a fibreglass cooler is only $1.79.

THANK YOU SO MUCH
GIFTS for Well. Anybody. For the bride who has everything, Princeton Gift Shop on Palmer Square suggests a Swedish crystal whale, etched and gracefully with a reclining figure whose broad shoulders correspond to the broad whale snout and whose tapering legs and feet repeat the smooth lines of the diminishing tail. Svenska tenk makes a chip-and-dip tray combination which is a single curving strip of wood with a small stainless steel cup embedded in the up-curving handle of the tray. It's $15.50.

You might buy for your next nest, a La-Bote leather bottle made to hold wine, coffee or whatever you suggest. You can pretend you're a Greek shepherd. There's a flask-shaped bottle on leather straps, or a horn shaped one suspended by a red silk cord.

If you'd rather be modern, buy a four-inch, silicone flask shaped like an ice-bag. It's a doughnut, really, with two stainless steel shot glasses fitted into the hole. $12.50, in red leather, brass-bound.

Museum reproduction jewelry is a specialty of the Princeton Gift Shop, and we found a wide choice of men's and women's offerings, including the famous Aztec calendar wheel, reduced to three lines in diameter and fastened to the end of a neck chain, gold ducklings arranged in a row, back and dangling in thirds from a pair of earrings or arranged in double file on a bracelet.

Men's cuff-links in dull silver have embossed warrior heads or the reverse and obverse of ancient coins. There's a splendid little knight in full armor with a key chain growing out of his helmet.

Big sister dialed "Operator"
and said,
"Hello, Mommy"

"Sorry to bother you
at this P. A. meeting, but Bobby wants
to my good night.
He won't go to bed.
Would you please talk to him.
Here's Mommy, Bobby..."

That's how this true story told to us by a customer started. Bobby was uneasy because Mommy was away—and Mommy couldn't be reached by phone. Big problem! But big sister had an idea that might work. She dialed the telephone operator. And the idea did work! The operator came on right away, and played "Mommy" so well that Bobby went straight to bed and fast asleep.

Naturally, the job of providing fast, dependable telephone service doesn't leave much time for operators to play Mommy. But a New Jersey dial operator is encouraged to be resourceful in recognizing the moments when it pays to stretch the rule book to good service. You'll find there's hardly an operator who can't tell stories like this one. NEW JERSEY BELL

SPORTS In Princeton

FITTING FINISH

To Dedication Game. It's too bad that Bill Clarke couldn't have been at Saturday's Yale-Princeton baseball game. Before the first ball was pitched, they dedicated it to the old east of Palmer Stadium to his memory.

A good three and a half hour later, the Orange and Blue, slunged descendants of the teams that Clarke coached for 31 years were trailing in the traditional rivalry game. There were two out in the last half of the ninth, but the 1961 Tigers staged a springing fourth-inning rally to give Princeton its 100th victory over Yale.

Bill Clarke would have loved it.

In between, he would have fussed and fumed and resorted to the colorful vocabulary for which he was famous. The long hot summer afternoon was filled with its share of horrendous college baseball.

The two teams were guilty of some of the most errors which could be charged on paper, plus another half dozen mistakes in judgment that benefited the opposition mightily. They left 22 runners stranded; they used seven pitchers between them; the infielders threw to the wrong base and the outfielders were frequently out of position.

It could be that a lot of the mistakes that were made could not have occurred without Bill Clarke's day, because 30 and 40 years ago, the material available for college baseball—at least at Yale and Princeton—was better than it is now. But the two coaches were doing their best with what they had, and if it wasn't always good, it developed into their melodrama at the finish.

Fortunately for the Tigers, the fourth pitcher they used in a shaky mound staff retired in the order in the top of the ninth. Princeton started its last-ditch effort by putting the first two men aboard on a scratch hit to deep short and a walk.

Third Out Elusive. Yale promptly narrowed the margin for victory down to the final out by forcing runners at third on successive infield grounders. The Blue never did manage, however, to find a way to retire the third man.

A pinch-hitter walked on a 3-2 count to fill the bases, but it still was 4-5 for Yale. Captain Bob Myslik chopped a high grounder to third, the hurried throw pulled the Eli second baseman off the bag and a run crossed the plate.

With the bases still loaded, Captain-elect Jack Whitehouse sliced a single into left. The Princeton runner at second had to hold up momentarily to avoid being hit by the ball, and a good throw to the plate would have nailed him. It was wide, however, and two runs scored to bring the Tigers even for the first time in seven innings.

Myslik was at third by now, and Bill MacMillan, the team's top clutch hitter, was at bat. Normally a wrong-field hitter as a right-hander, he drilled the first pitch between first and second for a clean single and Myslik raced home with the run that made it a 9-8 final.

In dedicating the field before the game, George Banks '15, long a friend of Princeton baseball, remarked that Bill Clarke's teams have won 499 games. "It would be entirely fitting," he said, "to have this first Yale-Princeton game on this new diamond become his 500th victory."

The Tigers seemed to forget this challenge as the streaming afternoon wore on. Their ace pitcher, Wally Phillips, was short of control and left as early as the third inning. The Blue moved out to leads of 9-2, 7-2 and 5-4 as the on-

Princeton kept chipping away, not always making the most of its opportunities, but at least staying within hailing distance. There were other incentives: victory would put the Tigers even with the .500 mark (11-11) and would give them the old contest in the three-game series with Yale.

Only a few hundred faithful fans, the original crowd of 4000 had stuck through the heat, a brief shower and the numerous rainfalls. The million-dollar game was conceivably unmatched in the long Yale-Princeton rivalry, not because games have never before been decided in the last inning, but because all four runs crossed the plate after the Eli had two out and two strikes across the plate.

Bill Clarke, who can be sure, would have loved it.

HOME OPENER FRIDAY

For P.A.C. Baseball Team. Playing on William Clarke Memorial Field, Princeton University's new diamond, the Princeton Athletic Club will open its home season Friday in a twilight game against Monticomb Township. The contest on the field east of Palmer Stadium is set for 6:15.

A number of players from Hun School's good team of the past spring are on the P.A.C. squad, which is coached by Sandy Bing. The latter, assistant coach at Hun this year, will direct Red and Black diamond fortunes in 1962.

Tommy Petrone of Hun will serve as captain of the Princeton entry in the Tri-County League. Others from Hun scheduled to see action are pitcher Smokey Black; Gary Grover, who plays both infield and outfield; and catcher Bill Savage. The P.A.C. nine was scheduled to open its season Wednesday of this week, at South Brunswick.

After a Friday game this week, all future contests on Clarke Field will be played on Thursday nights. The Princetonians will go to Hightstown Tuesday and will entertain South Brunswick next Thursday.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT SET

YMCA Event to Open Monday. The annual YMCA Summer Tennis Tournament will begin its two-month schedule Monday with matches for boys and girls 15 years and under. As in the past, the tournaments will be held on the University courts under the direction of Richard Swannerton. Entries will be taken either at the YMCA office or at the University's courts. Bulletin board and must be made by Friday noon before the Monday when play is scheduled to begin. Adults will pay a small entry fee to cover the cost of trophies, but younger players will contribute only a can of new tennis balls.

The complete schedule: boys 15 and under and girls 15 and under, June 19 through 23; Junior Tournament (boys 18 and under and girls 18 and under), June 26 through 30; Women's Singles, July 3 through 7; Men's Singles, July 10 through 14; Mixed Doubles, July 17 through 21; and Men's Doubles, July 31 through August 4. ### YANKKEE, GIANTS WIN

Victory in Midget League. The Yankees and the Giants swamped the opposition to emerge victors in the American and National Leagues in YMCA Midget Baseball. The two were the new members in the "World Series."

Trailing the Yankees, who pulled up a record of nine victories and no losses, in order of finish, were the Tigers, Orioles, Athletics, Red Sox and Indians. In the National League, the Giants with their 9-1 mark were followed by the Dodgers, Red Legs, Pirates, Braves and Cardinals.

BALL TO LEAVE HUN

Was Baseball Coach. Squire Ball, who coached the Hun School baseball team to a first 11-1 record this spring, will not return as head of the Red and Black nine. He had been head coach at Hun for two years.

Ball announced that he plans to attend the Sorbonne in Paris, under the auspices of Middlebury College, to study French literature in preparation for a Masters Degree in Literature. He will be there a year. His future plans, he reported, are still indefinite.

The probable successor to Ball is Sandy Bing, Ball's assistant. Bing was a varsity pitcher for three years at Lafayette.

THORNE'S EDGED

In Trenton Softball League. Thorne's of Princeton lost its first game in three outings when it dropped an 8-6 decision to the All Americans in the Trenton Girls Softball League. The game was played at Hitzel Field in Trenton.

Down 3 to 0, Thorne's allowed it up when it scored six runs in the final two innings. The comeback was high-
